Bear in mind the date. Children 10 cents, Adults 20.

PROMINENT CITIZEN OF NORTH ANDOVER DEAD.

James A. Ellison, a well known and highly respected resident of North Andover for the past 30 years, died Sunday morning at his home, 18 Stonington street, in that town, aged 59 years.

The deceased had been ill for the past five years, and although those about him had done all in their power to comfort the sufferer and lengthen his stay with those he loved, his wife and daughters saw their kindly administrations at an end as the spirit departed gave rest and peace to a tired body. With patience he bore his suffering to an end and gradually the hand of the Grim Reaper descended, until Sunday when the cord of life snapped and he passed to eternal rest.

Born in Mento, Ohio, the son of Abraham and Abigail (Stone) Ellison, James A. Ellison came east when a mere boy where he received his early education and learned the machinist trade, at which he was a master workman. He married Frances H. Taylor and shortly afterwards came to this town where he was constantly employed at the Davis & Furber machine shop, up to the time of his illness. The deceased was a quiet and reserved man, but his kindly disposition attained for him a wide circle of friends. He was fond of his home and friends and his lovable disposition made him a true and devoted husband, an affectionate father and a faithful friend.

He was a member of Cochichewick lodge A. F. and A. M., and Wauwinet lodge, I. O. O. F.

Besides his wife he is survived by three daughters, Sister Anna Gabriel of All Saints, Bulah Stone Ellison, and Alberta T. Ellison and two sons, J. Mason Ellison and William H. Ellison.

HAVERHILL MAN AT HEAD OF ESSEX CO., A. O. H.

BEVERLY, Oct. 21—More than 80 delegates were here today to attend the Essex county convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians at Division 12 hall on Cabot street.

The convention was called to order at 10 o'clock by the president, James Ryan of Lynn, after which Rev. John McKenna, assistant at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, offered prayer and addressed the members on the work of the order throughout the country. He spoke of the order's relationship with the Catholic church and advised Catholic young men to become members. Other speakers were the national president Matthew Cummings; the state president, John Rogers, and delegates from the different divisions.

At 1 the members formed in line and marched to the Cabot house, where they sat down to a banquet, 80 plates being laid. After the banquet the members returned to the hall, where officers of the county board were elected.

After serving six years as county president James Ryan of Lynn was retired with honor and Herbert McKenna of Haverhill was elected to succeed him. Mr. Ryan was given a vote of thanks by the members of the convention for his services.

Other officers elected were John O'Brien of Newburyport vice president, Dennis Foley of Salem secretary, and John J. O'Brien of Peabody treasurer The county parade, April 19, will be held at Lawrence.

NEITHER ANDOVER NOR HARVARD 2ND COULD SCORE.

On a wet and slippery field in a pouring rain, Phillips Andover and Harvard 2d played two 15-minute halves Saturday afternoon without a score.

Andover was the aggressor throughout, but was unable to get the ball over and four attempts at field goals failed.

Harvard could make little impression on the Andover line but got the ball in Andover's territory several times after fumbles. Andover's goal was never seriously threatened however.

Andover nearly reached Harvard's goal twice. In the first half the ball was taken to Harvard's three-yard line where it was lost on downs. In the second half Andover worked her way to the five-yard line and there lost on a fumble.

O'Connor tried a drop kick for a goal twice, the attempt being poor both times, the second kick being blocked. At the end of the first half Merritt made a fair catch on Harvard's 40-yard line and O'Connor tried for a goal from placement. The ball was apparently too wet for accuracy for the kick went far to one side. Harvard was declared offside, and O'Connor tried again from the 35-yard line, but the kick was low and wide.

Andover tried the forward pass once with success, Merritt sending the ball to Richmond for a gain of 10 yards. A similar gain was made once on a quarterback kick, O'Connor getting the ball.

Harvard played a kicking game almost entirely, Andover's line breaking up the tandem play, which Harvard tried, except in a few instances. The summary:

EXETER WINS FROM THE BROWN SECOND TEAM

EXETER, N. H., Oct. 25—Exeter yesterday defeated Brown second, 12 to 0. Immediately after Exeter's kick-off Brown was forced to punt. Vaughan made an onside kick, which Hart fumbled. Lynch retrieved the ball and scored. Exeter soon reached its opponents' two-yard line, where Brown held. Later a penalty placed Brown in striking distance, and Exeter in turn held on its one-yard line.

At the outset of the second half Vaughan, with beautiful interference, made a 70-yard quarterback run for a touchdown. The remainder of the game was played in Brown territory. Exeter seemingly made a safety, but it was not allowed by the umpire. Exeter was 11 times penalized for offside play, to Brown's once. The summary:

HARVARD FRESHMEN 0, EXETER 0.

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 22—The Harvard freshman team was held by Exeter to a 0-to-0 tie on Soldiers field Saturday afternoon in a game marred by much fumbling and at times brightened by sensational plays.

Exeter had the better of the struggle throughout, but could not take sufficient advantage of its opponents' misplays to score as neither side was able to gain consistently.

Exeter was weak on the offence and twice when its fast ends regained the ball on long punts it was unable to take advantage of the gains and punted.

The young collegians put up a strong offensive game and got together well in pushing through the line.

Exeter's captain made one great attempt to win the game in the last half by catching Gilbert's punt on his own 35-yard line and running it 45 yards to the 20-yard line, where his team was held for downs. The summary:

EDWARD F. SEARLES WOULD CONSTRUCT A SCHOOLHOUSE.

WINDHAM, Oct. 22—The warrant for town meeting has been posted and contains an article to see if the town will vote to discontinue two short pieces of road passing the house formerly the home of Leonard A. Morrison and now owned by Edward F. Searles of Methuen, Mass. Mr. Searles has constructed two short sections of the road, which, if he gives them to the town, will take the place of the roads which he desires to have discontinued and will carry the travel further away from his house. One of the roads which he asks to have given up is a portion of the old Windham Range road and passes the school house in former district 1, and the proposed change involves the abandonment of the school house and the building of a now one in another location. This part of the question is to come before the town school district at a special meeting called by petition to meet on the same day as the town meeting, but an hour earlier. The warrant for this meeting contains two articles, the first of which is to see if the district will vote to convey to Edward F. Searles the schoolhouse and lot "in consideration that said Edward F. Searles will convey to the town district a lot of land and construct a schoolhouse thereon to be of such character and form and so located on the lot as to be acceptable to a committee to be appointed by the district." The second article of the warrant is to choose a committee to carry this into effect.

The following players will line up: Pollard capt., le, Phair lt, Burns lg, Gillis c, Trembley rg, Wefers rt, Carney re, Coughlin qb, Delaney lhb, Blumel rhb, A. Nicholson fb.

Mark Twain, in the midst of a panegyric on advertising, told a remarkable story:

"There was a man," he said, "back in Iowa, who was so pleased with an advertisement in the local paper that he wrote the following testimonial letter to the editor:

"'Mr. Editor: Sir—After selling all I could, giving barrels away, and stuffing my hogs till they would eat no more, I still had, last fall, about 200 tons of big, juicy, fine-flavored apples left on my hands. I inserted in your valuable paper an ad. that I was willing to send free a barrel of picked fruit, freight paid in advance by me, to anyone who would apply, there being, of course, no charge for the barrel. You will hardly credit it, but that little 40-cent ad cleared out my whole stock of apples, and I could have disposed of five times the quantity on the same terms.'"

KEEPING TAB ON THE WORLD

Record Week of "Trust Busting" With Standard Oil Convicted In Ohio, New York Central Fined Heavily In New York, and Many Other Prosecutions Under Way—Burton Goes to Prison—Clemenceau French Premier—Cyclone Sweeps Havana and Florida Coast.

LEGAL-CRIMINAL

Standard Oil Company Guilty.

The verdict against the oil trust at Findlay, O., was the more unexpected because the judge had ruled out evidence of rebating by its agents since it could not be proved that the company had authorized such acts. The jury was out thirty-two hours before a verdict could be reached, as three at first stood for acquittal. The attorney for the defendant moved for a new trial. The penalty is a fine of from $50 to $5,000 or imprisonment from six to twelve months. It is the first time that a state has proceeded against a monopoly by information and affidavit instead of by grand jury indictment. Of course the case will be carried up to the higher courts.

Weightman Will Contest.

The fight for the division of the $60,000,000 fortune left by the late William Weightman of Philadelphia to his daughter, Mrs. Anne Walker, which was begun by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jones-Wister, had an unexpected and dramatic denouement when the case came to trial. Although the form of a continuance was gone through with, it was generally understood that Mrs. Wister had given up the fight because of the contents of a sheet of note paper on which Weightman had written his last wishes and thoughts concerning her. This document had been kept secret by Mrs. Walker after finding it among her father's papers, but by rumor it was supposed to be a codicil to the will. When, however, this fateful memorandum was read by her lawyers Mrs. Wister agreed to ask for a continuance rather than have the contents made public. It was evident that the Weightman opinion of Mrs. Wister was anything but favorable. Later Mrs. Wister announced that she would go on with the fight alone, and single handed, if necessary, and against her counsel, insisting that the scrap of paper could do her no harm.

Mrs. Jones-Wister.

New York Central Guilty.

In the United States circuit court at New York the trial of the New York Central Railroad company and its general traffic manager, Frederick L. Pomeroy, on the charge of giving rebates to the American Sugar Refining company in 1903 and 1904 on westbound sugar shipments resulted in a verdict of guilty. The case for the government was presented by District Attorney Stimson, Judge Holt presiding. Letters were put in evidence showing that Lowell M. Palmer, head of the traffic department of the sugar trust, had asked the railroad for an eighteen cent rate where the regular tariff was 23 cents per hundred, because otherwise the big Detroit dealers, Edgar & Son, threatened to make their shipments by canal to Buffalo; also that Pomeroy in reply agreed to the cut rate and to the making of refund by voucher.

The company and Traffic Manager Pomeroy were each found guilty on six counts. Judge Holt sentenced the former to pay a fine of $108,000 and the latter one of $6,000.

Kansas Antitrust Suit Begins.

Assistant Attorney General Jackson of Kansas has begun criminal proceedings against the International Harvester company on fifty counts for the alleged violation of the state antitrust law. This law provides that the violator may be fined from $100 to $1,000 on each count and that the fines would go into the state school funds. All the counts are based on the exclusive contract features and of the contracts issued to agents by the accused companies.

Burton Goes to Prison.

The United States supreme court has denied the petition of Joseph R. Burton, formerly a United States senator from Kansas, for a rehearing of his case. It was thought that there could be no further delay in the execution of the sentence of imprisonment and fine on the charge of accepting a fee for the use of his influence while serving as senator. He had previously announced that if his appeal was denied he would neither apply for nor accept a pardon. He began his six months' term in the Ironton (Mo.) prison Oct. 22.

Government Wins Eight Hour Case.

At Boston William H. Ellis, a prominent contractor, was brought to trial by the federal court on the charge of causing his employees to work more than eight hours per day in the construction of a pier at the navy yard. Interest in the case is great, because it is the first of the kind to come to trial and is expected to determine the constitutionality of the eight hour law.

A verdict of guilty was returned, and the judge granted twenty days to file exceptions. The case will be carried to the higher courts.

Dr. Brouwer Acquitted.

Owing to the conflicting character of expert evidence brought to bear in the trial of Dr. Frank Brouwer of Toms River, N. J., on the charge of having murdered his wife by slow poisoning and also on account of the emotional sympathy for the accused man, whose mother and two children awaited his return home, an unusual amount of interest was taken in the case by the public. The jury rendered a verdict of not guilty after being out a little over an hour. Dr. Brouwer's own testimony had proved the strongest card for the defense. The presumption of the man's innocence was based upon the theory that his wife had died from ptomaine poisoning as a result of something she had eaten.

New York Gas Decision.

The New York state court of appeals has decided that the supreme court had the right to restrain the Consolidated Gas company of New York city from cutting off the supply of gas from consumers who refused to pay more than 80 cents per thousand. The refusal to pay more was based on the eighty cent rate fixed by a legislative enactment.

EXECUTIVE

Root's Impressions of Panama.

In a letter to President Roosevelt Secretary of State Root gave his impressions of the condition of the Panama canal work. He said that the various heads of departments were active and competent Americans, who seemed intensely interested in their work, and that there were 30,000 people on the isthmus, of whom an average of 25,000 worked daily. The actual excavation which had been done near Celubra cut had gratified and surprised him. He saw thirty steam shovels eating into the earth and rock with a capacity which made the old French machines seem like toys. During August 235,000 cubic yards were taken out and 289,000 in September. Most of the work of sanitation—houses, wharfs, shops, railroads, etc.—was now done, so that all the forces would be concentrated on the excavation of the canal construction. The excavation which has been done and is being done will form the basis of specifications for future contractors. Mr. Root thinks that the greatest danger now is to keep good and competent men in the service "under indiscriminate misrepresentation and abuse."

Area of the United States.

A geographical survey bulletin prepared by Henry Gennett has just been issued representing the combined work of the land office, census bureau and survey in determining what constitutes the "area of the United States." The result is 3,026,789 square miles. The area of Alaska is given as 590,834, the Philippines 115,026, Hawaii 6,449, Porto Rico 3,435, Guam 210, Samoa 77 and the Panama canal strip 474 square miles. All the detached territory is subject to change as the limits become more closely defined.

Law Recognizes Joint Rate.

The interstate commerce commission has made several rulings under the new rate law, one of which involves the recognition of the joint rate between common carriers on interstate business. Copies of such rates must be hereafter filed with the commission. Wherever the joint rate between two points is higher than the sum of the local rates between them the joint rate must be reduced to the sum of the locals on one day's notice. The commission does not construe the law as preventing the carrier from giving free transportation to persons traveling over its line solely for the purpose of attending to its business, nor from giving free passage to the household effects of an employee who is required to move from one place to another, nor from giving passes to contractors. The reduced rate to clergymen is not to apply to members of their families, and free carriage is not to be given to government, army or navy officers.

To Investigate Peonage.

Acting upon the information of Eva Stirling, the Florida agent of the Humane society, the president and Attorney General Moody have commissioned Charles E. Russell, assistant attorney general, to go into the south and make personal investigation of those alleged practices. Mr. Moody says that he has selected Russell because he is a southern man, a Democrat and familiar with the existing conditions in the south.

No Chinese For Canal Work.

Chairman Shonts of the Panama canal commission while in Chicago denied the report that Chinese laborers had already been employed on the canal. He said he had neither hired nor contracted for such labor, but had invited bids. The only Chinese who were employed there were a few laundrymen.

Postal Deficit Reduced.

An advance statement of the finances of the postal service given out by Postmaster General Cortelyou shows a reduction of the annual deficit from $14,372,584 for 1905 to $10,516,905 for 1906, more than $4,000,000, or 27.83 per cent. The total receipts for 1906 were $167,932,782, an increase over 1905 of $15,106,197, which is the greatest increase for any year in the history of the service.

RELIGIOUS

Parkhurst's Novel Church.

The new Madison Square Presbyterian church at New York which has been erected on the opposite corner from where the old one stood, the latter being torn down to complete the great Metropolitan Life Insurance building covering the entire block, was dedicated last week, the sermon being preached by its twenty-five year pastor, the noted reformer, Dr. Parkhurst. The structure itself is unique, being of buff brick upon a base of white marble. The thirty foot columns of its classic portico are of pale green granite, and the whole rectangular structure is surmounted by a gilt dome. Within, there is nothing of the dark and somber effect commonly associated with church interiors. Green and oak are the prevailing tints, and a broad flight of marble steps leads to the seats, while the pulpit and reading desk are on either side of the platform. The walls are of stucco, and there is a gallery on three sides. The arches and dome are frescoed. The late Stanford White, the man who was murdered by Harry Thaw, was the architect of the church, and to Mr. White Dr. Parkhurst paid a high tribute for the work done.

Jesuit's Patrimony to Pope.

Father Francis Xavier Werntz, the new general of the Jesuit order, has turned over to Pope Pius the entire patrimony of the order, amounting to $40,000,000. This is done as a tribute of loyalty on account of the trouble between the Roman church and the French republic, which has greatly diminished the resources of the former.

FOREIGN

Clemenceau French Premier.

The retirement of M. Sarrien as premier of France was announced officially Oct. 19, and M. Clemenceau, minister of the interior, was asked by President Fallieres to assume the premiership. M. Sarrien's resignation was tendered on the ground of ill health. The whole cabinet resigned. The Clemenceau administration is not expected to modify either the home or foreign policy of the French government.

Opening of Persian Parliament.

The shah of Persia has opened the first parliament of his realm with great pomp and show. On account of impaired health his speech from the throne was read by the governor of Teheran. He expressed his belief that the people would not abuse the freedom given them and that parliament would support the government. His words were received with enthusiasm, and there were great festivities in the capital, the city being illuminated at night.

Prison For German Editor.

Because he criticised the kaiser for plucking a flower from a soldier's grave in Metz and sending it to the mayor of Hamburg Editor Wabersky of the Hamburger Echo has been sentenced to ten months in jail. It is a criminal offense in that city to pluck flowers from public gardens, and he merely called attention to the fact in referring to the kaiser's act.

The Marriage of Bertha Krupp.

Fraulein Bertha Krupp, heiress to the vast fortune of the late gunmaker of Essen, Germany, having in her own right property valued at $75,000,000, was married last week to Lieutenant Gustav von Bohlen und Holbach, a poor German diplomat, in the private chapel of the Krupp residence and in the presence of Emperor William and 140 guests. The bride was attended by her sister Barbara and was given away by her father's cousin, Arthur Krupp. At the wedding breakfast the kaiser congratulated the couple and delivered a homily on the duties and rights of the married state. The simplicity of the wedding ceremony and the inexpensiveness of the bride's trousseau, which cost only $250, have been generally remarked in view of her enormous wealth. Her wedding and traveling dresses were made with her own hands. The guests included six foremen and fourteen men from the gun shops, and $500,000 was given to the benevolent institutions devoted to the employees. The couple left by special train for Rheinbeck on the Rhine, where the honeymoon was to be passed. Frau von Bohlen und Holbach, although not considered a beauty, is a healthy and robust girl with simple and unpretentious tastes. Dr. Bohlen first met her at Rome, where he was secretary of the Prussian legation at the Vatican. He is about thirty-six years old and will leave the diplomatic service to take charge of the Krupp estate.

New Zealand Land Legislation.

The government of New Zealand is compelling all landowners to sell within ten years the excess of their land beyond $2,500,000, unimproved value, and prohibiting the present owners of $1,000 of first class land or $5,999 of second class land from adding to their estates.

METHUEN.

OBSERVED SILVER WEDDING.

In observance of the 25th anniversary of their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus C. Snell Saturday night held a reception to their friends at their pleasant home on Broadway. The reception was held from 8 to 10 o'clock, and during that time many friends called, including guests from Lawrence, North Andover, Andover, and other places.

The house was prettily decorated with autumn leaves and cut flowers. This feature was in charge of Walter Harding and Mrs. A. B. Davis. Mr. and Mrs. Snell received many gifts from friends. During the reception refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. George R. Merrill, Mrs. Walter Harding, James Abbott Miss Lulu and Miss Josephine Abbott.

Mr. and Mrs. Snell have resided in the house where they celebrated their anniversary ever since they were married 25 years ago. Mr. Snell was born in Tamworth, N. H., being the son of Nathan Snell, who was a native of Bridgewater, N. H. Mr. Snell's early life was spent in his native town and in 1875 he left Tamworth and located in Lawrence. Two years later he embarked in the meat and provision business which he continued until a few years ago. In 1881 Mr. Snell married Miss Elizabeth Jones and since that time he has been a resident of Methuen. He is an Odd Fellow, being a member of one of the lodges of Lawrence.

Mrs. Snell is the daughter of Jewette Jones Jr., for many years a prominent citizen and business man of Methuen. He conducted an express business in Methuen many years and made trips between Methuen and Boston. In 1859 he was killed on the railroad. Mrs. Snell attended the Methuen schools and Abbott academy, Andover. She is a prominent member of Samuel Adams chapter, D. A. R. Mr. and Mrs. Snell are members of Methuen grange. They attend the Congregational church.

Mr. and Mrs. Snell were married by Rev. Charles L. Mitchell, formerly pastor of the Methuen Congregational church, now located in Winchendon. They had one child a daughter, Lillian who would have been 23 years old last July if she had lived.

The Ladies' Social union of the Gleason Memorial church conducted a successful sock social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Cooper on Broadway Wednesday night. There was a large attendance, and a neat sum was realized.

RUGS In these days of modern improvements and hard wood floors the carpet rug is in great favor. It is cheaper than the regular carpet and often times handsomer. Then again, it's nothing to put down; anyone can do it, and during house cleaning time the hardest task of all is entirely eliminated. Carpet Rugs are fashionable, and they've come to stay. Our exhibition embraces 200 or more patterns in Wiltons, Body Brussells, Tapestry Brussels and Smyrnas.

.. ART .. SQUARES Our Art Squares are of exceptionally pretty designs and colorings. Very often they are used as medallions over mattings and carpets. All wool Art Squares in all sizes.

The Call to Sanity.

After all discussion that can be given to the burning questions of the day, is there any issue before the people of Massachusetts today except that of a decision between rhyme and reason? Up and down the State there is going a man who seeks the office of governor upon his own individual attributes. He enunciates no ideas and suggests no policies save those of his own brain's formation. By training and service, by deed and promise, he can be tested only to signally fail to reach the standard of Massachusetts governors, and in any other year than the present, he would have so little standing as to make his candidacy ridiculous. Why is he today a factor in Massachusetts?

For reasons, some good and sufficient and some imaginary and inadequate, the public mind has reached a very serious condition. The good and sufficient reasons are closely allied to the tremendous prosperity which our country is enjoying. Great wealth has been acquired as never before, and while the average citizens have been participants in this prosperity, there has been an increasing feeling among the men who do manual toil that their shares have not been justly apportioned. Out of this feeling the natural unrest of the great mass of people has sprung. Left alone to its own natural adjustment, the feeling would have been finally allayed by the slow process that has always heretofore brought the balance right, and we should today see in this state and in New York a normal kind of political contest instead of what is now going on.

But a great force to foment unrest has sprung up in the Nation during the past ten years. A force that has no parallel by which it may be tested in arousing passion and prejudice in a way that cannot long continue without serious results to the body politic. The power of the world's most powerful agent, the public press, is being trained upon men's passions, and slowly but surely is shaping up a great movement for the advancement of everything that is radical, to the evident personal profit of the most dangerous radical of modern times.

No person who has not thought carefully upon the significance of the organization of the chain of sensational newspapers now published by, and in hourly service of, a noted individual seeking to break into public life, can have any realization of the power contained in such a combination. Wider than all the pulpits of America can reach, is the field that is covered. More skilful than any other art ever known are the stories presented. With an utter abandon of all truth, the minds of the people are being worked upon by the best talent that the world knows, and the fruits are getting pretty ripe.

A small community like Andover has but a small part in this great game, but the time is propitious for doing that part. The need of the hour is a return of the people to sanity and reason. No man can examine the fulminations of either the Massachusetts or New York apostle of passion without seeing the transparent nature of the man and his appeal. Ills there are, but they are such ills as never have been, or never could be cured by such physicians as Moran and Hearst.

Andover may have a small part in stemming the tide of radicalism, but it must not fail to do its little. It will not require any noise, nor any large amount of stirring about, but it will require the will and the deed of all of the town's high-minded citizenship, for this community to do its full share in bringing the whole people back to sanity.

Editorial Cinders.

The death of Henry J. Newman takes away one of the rare artizans of the old school type. He did not "learn his trade" in the modern way of push and drive for shorter hours and larger pay, but he became a skilled workman through training an endowed eye and hand by long and constant labor. A good citizen and a master workman — what better record for the close of a long life!

It is a pleasure to endorse all the Phillipian says about the latest choice at Phillips of a graduate treasurer. Mr. Goodhue has gone "clear through the mill" and knows the demands of the position thoroughly. More than that, he knows the Phillips traditions, and will make his new position count for all that is possible in maintaining all that is best in them.

Watermelons raised in Andover, large, ripe, and luscious; that's the story of a recent donation to the Townsman by B. F. Holt, the ice dealer, and the quality of the fruit proved abundantly that not only is the raiser a skilful gardener, but the soil of Andover fits the product.

The first bazaar of the K. of C. Council here in Andover calls attention to the splendid growth and success that marks the life of this organization, with not quite a year of life behind it. It promises much that is helpful to the members and to the community in its future.

K. OF C. BAZAR

Held in Town Hall for Three Nights. Is Being Well Patronized

The grand bazar held under the auspices of Andover Council No. 1078, Knights of Columbus, was auspiciously opened in the Town hall on Wednesday evening, for a three nights' run, in the presence of a large and appreciative audience.

The bazar is being held for the purpose of procuring funds to pay off the debt incurred in forming the new order in Andover about a year ago, and there is not the least doubt but that they will succeed in raising a much larger sum than is needed for the purpose.

Shortly after eight o'clock on Wednesday evening, Grand Knight John H. McDonald, accompanied by the officers and members of the committee, stepped upon the stage. Mr. McDonald, in a short and expressive speech, thanked the friends of the order for the many kind acts which had been shown in the preparations for the bazar and for the gifts which had been received. He then introduced Speaker John N. Cole, who made the opening address.

Mr. Cole spoke very highly of the work of the Knights of Columbus throughout the country and was glad that 110 young men had seen fit to form a lodge in Andover, and hoped that it would not only be successful within the lodge room, but that it might be a factor in the social, political and religious life of Andover. At the close of his speech he was given long and hearty applause.

The hall is tastefully trimmed with bunting of various colors which blend beautifully. From the centre of the ceiling hangs a rosette of green and white flags, and streamers of the same colors are suspended from the gallery.

All of the tables are prettily trimmed, most of the work being done by the lady friends of the order. On entering the hall, the first table on the left is that from which ice cold drinks are served, and which is in charge of John Schofield and Patrick Carroll. Next comes the mystery table. The decorations are red and green with leaves entwined around the support. Misses Julia Daly, Julia Hickey, Mary Daly and Anna McGlynn preside over this table. Blue and white are the colors of the domestic table and Misses Margaret McGovern, Linda Clinton, Mamie Comber and Margaret Comber are in charge. In the northeast corner Mme. Rawhand can be visited and your past, present and future will be told.

Across the hall is the fancy table which is beautifully trimmed with blue and white bunting and autumn leaves. Miss Katherine Hurley has charge and is ably assisted by Misses Sadie Bingham, Katherine Hannon, Mary McDonald, Helen O'Connor and Edith Higgins.

One of the best patronized tables is the candy table. The colors are yellow and white, and the committee in charge is composed of Mrs. Albert Hemmer, Misses Lizzie Hodnett and Katherine Sweeney. The cake table is also in yellow and white, and Mrs. D. F. Sweeney and Miss Margaret Donovan have charge.

Ice cream is served in the southwest corner of the hall, Mrs. John Kelly and Miss Julia Eldred having charge. They are assisted by Misses Delia Moran, Beatrice Bushea, Agnes Keefe and Lizzie Zalla.

Joseph Murphy and James McCafferty have charge of the clothes checking, and Michael Winters is in the box office. The fair will continue this evening and the same committees will be at their stations.

Shortly after nine o'clock on both the preceding nights the floor has been cleared and dancing has been enjoyed, music being furnished by Thomes' orchestra. Tonight the prize winners will be announced.

The committee in charge of the entire bazar is composed of the following: John F. Sullivan, chairman; John H. McDonald, John A. Daly, M. D., Albert Hemmer, Timothy J. Mahoney, Patrick J. Dwane, John Hurley, Jeremiah J. Daly, M. D., John S. Robertson, William J. Doherty, David S. Burns, Michael Flaherty, Owen Caffery, Michael Winters.

Among the prominent members of the order who were present were: District Deputy Edward L. Arundel of Lawrence, District Deputy William Sullivan of Lowell, Grand Knight John J. Hart of Lawrence, Grand Knight John Holland of Haverhill and Grand Knight John F. Sheehan of Newburyport.

Appointed Graduate Treasurer.

"The choice of F. Abbott Goodhue, P. A. '02, of this town to fill the position of Graduate Treasurer of the athletic organizations of Phillips Academy, is one of which the school and town may feel justly proud. Mr. Goodhue succeeds S. L. Fuller, who resigns after several years of efficient service and who is soon to leave Andover to accept an important business position in New York City. No man better qualified than Mr. Goodhue could have been selected to fill this position. As manager of the Academy football eleven and undergraduate treasurer of the school, and later as assistant manager and then manager of the Harvard University Football Association, Mr. Goodhue has enjoyed wide experience and valuable training for the duties of his new work, while his unbounded loyalty to the best interests of the Academy and his familiarity with its traditions and activities, render him especially fitted to contribute effective service to the Athletic Association as well as to the school at large."—Phillipian.

Abbot Academy Piano Recitals for 1906-07.

The series for this year's concerts will be equal to the best ever given during the thirty years of their existence. Madame Olga Samaroff, one of the most phenomenal of remarkable pianists of the present time, will give the first recital on the afternoon of November 8th in Davis Hall.

The other artists are for vocal Mrs. Bertha Cushing Child, whose splendid contralto voice has stirred and charmed every one who has heard her, and the Kneisel Quartette, whose marvellous playing the people of Andover know all about.

The program will be printed next week and will undoubtedly be a splendid beginning of a fine series of recitals.

With profound thanks for the very generous support in former years, Abbot appeals once again to the patrons of these concerts.

Fire Destroys Historic Homestead

A very destructive fire occurred in West Andover last Friday afternoon when the entire set of buildings owned by Albert A. Hardy were burned to the ground together with a large stock of farming tools and haywhich were stored in the barn. The origin of the fire is not definitely known but it is thought to have started in the barn from spontaneous combustion. This is the only cause that can be ascribed and it will probably never be known definitely what the real cause was.

The fire started in the barn shortly before three o'clock and had gained great headway when discovered by Mrs. Hardy who was at work in the house. Mr. Hardy was in the cider mill at the time and he at once rushed to the telephone and notified the local department. Box 52, situated at the engine house was pulled in and in a short time the ladder truck was on the way to the scene. It was a long hard run of over four miles but it was made in 25 minutes. On the arrival it was seen at once that nothing could be done to save the property from complete destruction, the barn having already been entirely destroyed, and the roof of the house being ready to fall in.

At the first appearance of the fire many of the neighbors rushed to the scene and assisted in removing the furniture and household effects and in this way nearly everything was saved. The barn was about 40x50 and was well constructed. There was no livestock in it at the time. The entire loss is estimated at about $3000 and it is partially insured.

The property was one of the land marks of the West district, it being well known as the old Shattuck place.

Andover Guild.

We open the newly decorated lower hall Saturday night by a meeting of the Boys' Club. Important decisions concerning the fees, changes in the constitution, etc., make it necessary that every member should be present. The entertainment will consist of readings and recitations by P. F. Gilbert, songs by Mrs. F. G. Moore and an exhibition of heavy dumb-bell work by Mr. Betteridge assisted by two other students and accompanied by L. L. Day all of Phillips Academy.

Tuesday evening from 7.30 to 9.30 the Guild house will be open to the public and we hope that many who have so frequently said they had no idea that Andover had any such equipment, will avail themselves of this opportunity to inspect the house, to meet the directors and the workers and to acquaint themselves with the workings of this organization. At eight o'clock there will be a short meeting with an account of some work in New York City by Edward Sturgis, formerly of that city but now a citizen of our own town, also an account of one of the North Andover clubs by Rev. S. C. Beane, jr., and music by W. G. Beach, also Mrs. F. G. Moore, and some report of our own plans for the coming winter.

Punchard and Danvers Tie.

The Punchard High school football team played a draw game on the playstead Wednesday afternoon, when the strong Danvers High school team were their opponents. Neither team was able to score, although Punchard kept the ball in Danvers' territory throughout the game and were very near to the visitors' goal line when time was called.

The feature of the game was the 40 yard run by P. Hardy on a double pass. The visitors only gained first down once throughout the game.

Members of Hope lodge, I. O. O. F., of Methuen, 80 strong, came to Andover Wednesday to pay a fraternal visit to Andover lodge and to leave the traveling cabinet, which came to Methuen from Haverhill some months ago. The delegation chartered a special electric car. Arriving at Andover the visitors were met by a committee from Andover lodge and extended a hearty welcome by noble grand Harry Abbott.

The usual lodge business was transacted after which Prof. Cole entertained with readings and solos. He also proved a good entertainer as a ventriloquist.

The traveling cabinet, which contains various emblems designed by the different lodges in whose possession it has been since its origin, was presented to Andover lodge by Hon. James O. Parker, one of the oldest past noble grands of Hope lodge. Noble Grand Abbott of Andover lodge made an appropriate speech of acceptance. Other speaking followed. The gathering was honored by the presence of DDGM Jesse J. Prescott and state grand officers and Hon. John N. Cole, speaker of the house of representatives. Mr. Cole made interesting remarks. Other speakers included past grands J. J. Prescott, W. A. Bower, Robert Hill, George N. Blodgett, George B. Bradbury and David S. Emery.

A supper followed the lodge meeting. The Methuen delegation returned home about midnight. Those in the party included: Noble Grand Sidney H. Nowell, George N. Blodgett, W. A. Bower, Charles R. Bower, Gilbert Bowen, George W. Barnes, R. S. Brown, S. O. Buzzell, Daniel Carter, C. A. Clark, G. A. Marsh, Frank Mitchell, James L. Moxsom, John Ostler, James O. Parker, O. A. A FREAK OF NATURE.

A tree that is a freak of nature is the Asiatic star tree. It grows sixty to eighty feet tall, and for a height of about forty feet the trunk is wholly bare. From that point there spring a number of tangled limbs, which shoot out clusters of long pointed leaves, and these, grouped together, emit at night a phosphorescent light.

The Oldest Phillips Boy.

For several years the oldest living graduate of Phillips Academy has been John Jenks Osborn, who entered the school in 1823 when ten years old, leaving in 1826. He was for many years at the head of a large importing house in New York City, though residing himself much of the time in London, in Paris and in Germany. Since 1888 he has had a quiet home in South Devon, England, where he died August 1st, in his ninety-fourth year.

Although born in New York City, he was really of Andover descent, his mother having been Priscilla Abbot Jenks, daughter of Martha Abbot Jenks, who was the daughter of George Abbot, Esq. He was thus a grand-nephew of Mrs. Sarah Abbot, the founder of Abbot Academy, and a kinsman, one step further removed, of Judge Phillips, the founder of Phillips Academy. While a pupil here, he lived at "A. Blanchard's Esq." who everybody (who is old enough) knows was Dea. Amos Blanchard, grandfather of our Mr. Amos Blanchard. His residence was the late Dea. Edward Taylor's house on Main street, now occupied by Henry S. Robinson. Mr. Robinson will be glad to know that there boarded with young Osborn at Dea. Blanchard's, John Armistead Carter of Virginia, afterward a Virginia lawyer, and member of the Secession Convention in 1861; also, Thomas J. Farnham, who traveled to Oregon and California in 1840 and wrote books about it; Erastus Hopkins, a famous anti-slavery orator; Thatcher Magoun, the Medford ship-builder; Gordon Winslow, a prominent Sanitary Commission worker in war time, and other boys who have done credit to their Andover training.

Mr. Osborn retained the most vivid and kindly remembrances of his young days here, and often sent messages from his English home, the last of which came from his granddaughter, in connection with the announcement of his death: "He was always greatly interested in his old school, and several times told me not to forget to let your know when he was no longer the 'oldest boy.'"

Mr. B. Frank Wardwell, of Andover, is now the oldest alumnus of the Academy, 90 years old; William Kidder, an Andover boy, son of Francis, who entered in 1828, is also still living in Newburyport, '89; and Justin A. Edwards, son of Dr. Justin Edwards, who entered in 1829, in Brooklyn, N. Y., '87.

SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING.

The Andover Conference Takes Action in Regard to Seminary.

At the semi-annual session of the Andover conference of Congregational churches, held Tuesday, at the Trinitarian church, North Andover, the following vote was taken:

"The Andover Conference of Congregational churches, having cherished the theological seminary at Andover for many years with the affection of close acquaintance, respectfully submits to the trustees of this institution its strong belief that the seminary, under present changed conditions, needs a board of trustees responsible for its interests, apart from those of Phillips Academy; and would express the hope that some method of securing such exclusive trusteeship, be found."

The conference was opened at 3 o'clock p. m. Devotional exercises were led by Rev. Owen James of Dracut. The moderator was Charles A. Breck of Methuen.

Rev. B. A. Willmot, Rev. J. A. McKnight, and Deacon John Wilkinson of Lawrence, were appointed a committee on business.

The general theme of the conference was "Our Local Prosperity." The first topic, "Our Mission Churches and Our Missionary Work," was opened by Rev. F. A. Wilson of Andover. He referred to the French mission church of Lowell as the hardest problem the committee has had to wrestle with. Since its founding it has had large grants from the society annually, an average of $862. Yet today its membership is smaller that in preceding years, owing, it is said, to the fact that its young people prefer connecting themselves with English speaking churches. The situation needs the grave consideration of the Lowell Congregationalists, as to the wisdom of continuing so large an outlay, for the small results that can reasonably be expected under existing conditions.

Rev. George F. Kengott continued discussion of the topic, speaking of the mission work among the foreign population of Lowell.

He recommended a federation of all the churches, of all denominations, Catholic and Protestant, if possible, for the evangelization of the non-church going people.

Or, if this is not possible, or feasible, there should be a federation of the Protestant churches, for evangelization without proselyting among the Catholics. He referred to the work of Father Rosa among the Portuguese, as one of the strongest that is being carried on in Lowell.

Mr. Kenngott thought there should be a general reorganization of the whole missionary work. There is no need of a French Baptist, a French Congregational, and a French Methodist mission church in Lowell, unless they can support themselves, and pay the price of independence.

Discussion from the floor developed a strong sentiment in favor of continuing the grant to the French mission church, the position being taken that it is furnishing many excellent church members, out of its ranks, to the English speaking churches.

"The Future of Andover Seminary" was the next topic. Rev. A. C. Ferrin of Lowell, who was to be the second speaker on this topic was unable to be present. The topic was introduced by Rev. William E. Wolcott of Lawrence. He said that the period of storm and stress through which the seminary has passed, has created widespread distrust of the seminary among the churches. In the main, this distrust is unwarranted and excessive. Andover has acted as a pioneer to secure the freedom of all Congregational seminaries. In all of them, the same views are now freely advanced, for which the Andover professors were placed on trial.

The attendance at Andover has come very near the vanishing point, and it is now proposed to put new life in it, by removing it to Cambridge where it will come into affiliation with the Harvard Divinity school. The plan proposed is an experiment of uncertain outcome; and all admit that whatever compensations would follow, there would be a great loss in tearing the institution away from the attractions and traditions of its present location.

Without marshaling the arguments for and against removal, Mr. Wolcott discussed various possible reasons for the failure of the seminary in its present location.

Among the causes which militate against the success of the seminary, he mentioned the fact that the trustees are also trustees of Phillips Academy, which is the older institution. Without reflecting upon the faithfulness of the trustees to the interests of both institutions, he questioned whether it is advisable to put a theological seminary and a preparatory school into the hands of the same trustees. The trustees of the seminary ought to be representative of the churches for which the ministers are to be trained.

He doubted, also, whether it were possible that the trustees, in considering this question of removal, should not be somewhat influenced by the thought that the removal of the seminary from its present location would make it possible for the academy to secure a superb plant for its educational work.

It would be natural, should this plan prevail, that the Andover students should avail themselves of the teaching of the Harvard professors; but it would be unfortunate that the spirit of Harvard Divinity school should dominate Andover seminary.

The church needs trained missionary workers, and Bible teachers, and there is the great campus on Andover hill, with 11 theological students. The seminary was established to serve the churches. Here was a work which the churches needed to have done, and Andover would not do it. The present situation is a disgrace to the seminary and to the denomination.

There would doubtless be legal difficulties in securing a separate board of trustees for the seminary; but it is scarcely reasonable, if all parties interested desired it, that the legislature could not sweep away the difficulties.

He recommended a separate set of trustees for the seminary; and that more attention be given to raising up preachers and leaders, rather than critical scholars; and that attention be given, also, to training missionary workers and Bible teachers.

Ultimately, if it is found necessary to remove the seminary, he asked why one possibility only, should be considered. There is in Boston a Methodist divinity school, with 90 pupils. Why not ask if some arrangement could not be made with that institution? Or why not inquire into the possibility of finding a favorable independent location.

In the discussion that followed the address, Rev. A. F. Dunnels of Lowell said that as a graduate of Andover and one who has taken a post-gradute course at Harvard, he wished to heartily endorse the views of Mr. Wolcott. While respecting Harvard as a cultured centre, he believed that the atmosphere and the outlook of the Harvard Divinity school is not that which we desire for the men who are to stand in the Congregational pulpits. Andover seminary can far better produce and impart that spirit.

"Evangelism in Our Churches," was discussed by Rev. F. S. Hunnewell of the State Association.

"Child Labor Within the Bounds of the Andover Conference, was the subject of a paper by Rev. Clark Carter of Lawrence, who treated the topic in a thoroughly optimistic manner. He contrasted the conditions in Massachusetts with our compulsory education laws and our laws restricting the employment of children, with the conditions in the Southern mills in the glass factories of New Jersey, and in the coal mines of Pennsylvania. The conditions in our own state have so greatly improved within the last few years, that the only necessity for bringing the subject before the conference, is to see that they are kept so. Mill owners need to know that people of influence and standing are interested in the question.

Rev. George E. Mertin, D. D. of Lowell, spoke on "The Outlook in Foreign Missions." He thought that the churches would not get rid of the apathy at home, until they do their work here under the wider view and under the higher inspiration.

There was a brief business session before recess, when Rev. E. R. Smith of Lowell was chosen moderator for the next meeting and N. D. Frye of North Andover alternate.

In response to a letter from the State Association, recommending co-operation in the matter of securing and enforcing Sunday laws, the following committee was appointed to co-operate with the committee of the State Association: Rev. C. H. Oliphant of Methuen, Mr. Shaw of Ballardvale and Rev. E. Victor Bigelow of Lowell.

The business committee then presented the recommendation regarding the trusteeship of Andover Theological seminary and it was unanimously adopted.

At 6 o'clock supper was served by the ladies of the entertaining church, and at 7 the conference was again called to order. The topics discussed were as follows: "The Outlook in Home Missions," Rev. A. F. Earnshaw, of Chelmsford; "A Graded Bible School," Rev. B. L. Yorke, West Medford; "Irish Presbyterianism and American Congregationalism," Rev. J. Edgar Park of Andover.

The conference adjourned at 8.30 o'clock.

Mme. Samaroff at Abbot.

The following from a distinguished critic of Buffalo, N. Y., will be read with interest by the people of Andover who will have the great pleasure of hearing Mme. Samaroff on Nov. 8 in Davis Hall, Abbot Academy.

"Mme. Samaroff is one of the rare individuals so well equipped with the powers that compel success as to make us wonder at the generosity of the gods. She has beauty, youth and health, a gracious and winning manner, the cleverness of self-understanding and the strength of self-mastery, in addition to her marvelous musical endowment. When she is on the stage she appeals to eye, ear and intellect. The audience is hers before she strikes a tone, and when she plays the spell is complete and unbroken.

Mme. Samaroff holds that music is the natural expression of the great emotions of humanity, and she feels that the piano is a satisfying medium through which to express them. In her hands, indeed, the instrument becomes a thing of fire and color, and it speaks in convincing fashion.

After taking it for granted that Mme. Samaroff has all the essentials that make for artistic greatness, it is interesting to note wherein her playing is distinctive. She has infinite variety and loveliness of tone, and fine control of a temperament so abundant that it might easily carry her into the realm of the extravagant and erratic. Her splendid poise is one of the most admirable and remarkable points of her work. Moreover she has originality in no small degree, and a vigor and rhythm that are stirring.

POLITICAL

"What's the Matter With America?"

William Allen White deals with the county in the first of his civic essays for Collier's and starts out with the assumption that the county is now the basis of American government rather than the township. He believes that few of the people that steal from the public funds or who lie out of public obligations do so with a clear vision of what they are doing, and so he thinks it better to teach men what dishonesty is than to put them in jail for things that do not seem "wrong to them until it has been spelled out." He thinks that too little attention is paid to teaching morals and too much to arithmetic and percentage. The citizen must be taught to keep the law not only with the neighbors that see and know him, but with the unknown and unseen who deal with him through the vast and invisible compact we call life. So if the country is to be improved politically he thinks it will do little good to begin reforming presidents, senators, etc. If there is treason in the senate it is the same kind that is found among the people, and it will do little good to show the people the kind of rascals they have hired "unless we show the people they are the rascals who hired them." Nevertheless he concludes that we are merely in a hallway which soon must open into a wider field and at least that politics are no worse than they were a generation ago. Our antiquated system of politics through conversions has got to go. He believes that the movement for direct primaries is bound to prevail and that it will take the American people a long step nearer the real government of and by the people.

William Allen White.

Warrant For Nominee Emery.

State Senator McNichol of Pennsylvania asked for the arrest of Lewis Emery, Jr., the fusion nominee for governor, on the charge of slander for saying in a speech that McNichol had paid $15,000 each for five Democratic votes in the speakership fight in 1901.

To Test Detroit Franchise.

President Hutchins of the Detroit United railway, which controls the street car system of that city, announced that he would put into effect the rates of fare provided by the proposed new franchise on which the voters will pass at the coming elections. The rates are ten tickets for 25 cents during the five hours of the day when workingmen ride and six for 25 cents during the other nineteen hours.

New York Campaign.

The battle for the control of the New York state government is being waged with increasing fierceness on both sides, and no quarter is asked or given. Both Hearst and Hughes are stumping the state in what is known as whirlwind style.

Hearst is making the most of the fact that the leading financiers of the state and the heads of the great trusts and corporations are unanimously supporting the Republican nominee. On the other hand, Hughes has used effectively the fact that Hearst's papers are operated through a holding corporation known as the Star company. Early in the week the Hearst cause suffered a serious blow in the open revolt of McCarren, the Brooklyn Democratic leader. Hughes's war cry is "Down with sham reform!" while Hearst's is "Down with predatory corporations!" On the strength of a statement made by Leader Murphy of Tammany that the Independence men were blackmailing Democratic candidates, the district attorney began John Doe proceedings before the grand jury, Murphy himself being summoned.

Watson Gives Up Editorship.

Thomas E. Watson has abandoned the editorship of the magazine which bears his name after eighteen months of its existence. It is understood that his resignation was due to a dispute with the stockholders, chief of whom was W. D. Mann, of Town Topics notoriety, concerning money due as salary.

Organization For Bailey.

The Texas Democratic executive committee has adopted resolutions indorsing the action of Chairman Carden in his remonstrance against the anti-Bailey agitation as "conducive to strife and division in the party."

LABOR

Wage Raise For Trainmen.

All trainmen in the service of the Philadelphia-Reading Railway company have had their wages voluntarily advanced by the company from 5 to more than 8 per cent. About 60,000 men are affected, and the increase will cost the company $200,000 per year. The advance was recommended by the operating department as something which the men deserved and the company was able to pay.

Split of Industrial Workers.

The convention of the Industrial Workers of the World at Chicago was under the domination of the members of the Socialist Labor party, the leader of which is Daniel De Leon of New York, and such radical amendments to the constitution were made that a faction of the organization bolted the convention under the leadership of General President Charles O. Sherman. Although the convention deposed him without regard to the principle of referendum, Sherman issued a circular to all locals declaring that the executive board would remain in office until matters are straightened out. He has tied up the funds of the organization, declaring that he will not turn them over to the newly elected officers until so ordered by a referendum vote of the entire body. The per capita tax was reduced from 25 cents to 15 cents per month.

Progress of Printers' Strike.

Max S. Hayes, writing of the printers' strike in the International Socialist Review, says that 85 per cent of the printers are now working on the eight hour basis, or about 40,000 out of a total of 45,000. About 5,000 are still on strike, and 3,000 either by agreement or other reasons have not joined the movement.

Labor's Share In Prosperity.

The United States bureau of labor has issued a report on the cost of living, wages and hours of labor covering a sixteen year period, beginning with 1890 and ending with 1905. The figuring shows that, although the prices of many staple commodities have gone up, the purchasing power of average wage for a shorter week's work has risen appreciably. For instance, comparing the average wage per hour in 1905 with that of 1894, it appears that there has been an increase of 21.5 per cent, while the average number of hours' work per week has decreased 3.9. Thus these figures show that the average wage earner with shorter hours makes 16.7 more than he did in 1894. The estimate of the cost of food is based upon the average family consumption in 2,567 workingmen's families. According to this, the price of food has increased 12.7 above 1890 and 9.8 per cent above 1890. Thus the average wages would seem to purchase 7.7 per cent more food in 1905 than in 1894 and 8.1 per cent more than in 1890. At the same time these statistics show that the number employed has increased 42 per cent over 1894 and 40.9 per cent over 1890. Thus the total amount paid in wages has been increased 65.7 since 1894.

COMMERCIAL

Something New In Weeklies.

The publishers of Everybody's have made their initial bow with a somewhat novel kind of weekly periodical which calls itself "Ridgway's, a Militant Weekly For God and Country." The novelty consists in its being published simultaneously in fourteen cities of this country, with a local staff in each, and with its news and editorial paragraphs edited by telegraph from the central headquarters in New York, the idea being to supplant daily newspaper reading and at the same time furnish the customary features of a weekly. In policy Ridgway's aims to steer clear of all party or factional alliances.

Fish Retains Illinois Central.

President Stuyvesant Fish of the Illinois Central railroad routed the Harriman forces in the stockholders' meeting at Chicago by retaining control of the directorate. From the chair President Fish denounced Harriman bitterly for trying to make the Illinois Central the sport of Wall street. William Nelson Cromwell, Harriman's representative, charged gag ruling and accused Fish of breaking faith by using certain proxies to protect himself.

INDUSTRIAL

Building the Highest Bridge.

The American Inventor says that work is now in progress on a suspension bridge over the famous Royal gorge of the Arkansas river in Colorado at a point where the chasm is only 50 feet wide at the bottom and 250 feet wide at the top. This bridge will span the river 2,627 feet above the surface of the water and will be, therefore, by far the highest bridge in the world. The material will be of flat steel and steel cables, the curved girders finding secure attachment in the solid sides of the canyon. The floor of the bridge will be of plate glass one and a half inches thick to afford visitors the pleasure of looking down the chasm. On each side will be strong high steel railings. The bridge is part of an electric railway scheme, and cars from Canon City and Florence will run over it. The Denver and Rio Grande tracks lie at the bottom of the gorge.

Texas Elephant Ranch Started.

A New York corporation has just received the first shipment of elephants to stock an elephant breeding ranch near Valentine, Tex. Provision is made for 100 elephants. It is the first experiment ever attempted in this country in breeding elephants on a large scale.

Thirty-five Thousand Autos In a Year.

At a recent gathering of makers of automobile parts it was estimated that the number of automobiles made in the United States from September, 1905, to September, 1906, was 35,000, of which 32,000 were gasoline cars.

SCIENTIFIC

Atlantic Coast Is Sinking.

James F. Sanborn, a geologist connected with the New York board of water supply, estimates that the Atlantic coast is sinking at the rate of about one foot in a hundred years. He says that the Hudson is a drowned river and that the sea bottom can be traced as far back as Albany, while the river channel extends thirty miles from land. The Island of Manhattan was formerly a mountain top as high as the Catskills. The channel of the Hudson reaches the depth of 3,000 feet, being a gorge cut down into the floor of the sea. The bottom of this gorge was once a surface stream.

Women's Brains Greater.

In speaking of the comparative brain power of the sexes in his lectures at London, Dr. Scofield said that women were just beginning their race, whereas men had pretty well finished theirs, and he declared that women's brains were slightly greater in proportion to bodily frame than men—certainly they were not less—and in fifty years he believed that woman's brains will have developed the faster. Nevertheless there were essential differences between the man's brains and woman's, and anything in the nature of rivalry was absurd. Women's brains were better for some work and men's for other.

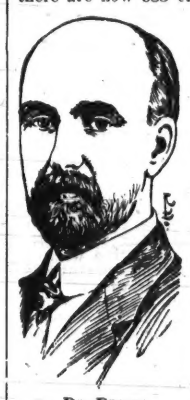

EDUCATIONAL

Medical Inspection of Students.

According to the School Journal, it is estimated that the expense of operating the new inspection law in Massachusetts public schools is about $25 per 1,000 inhabitants in the larger cities, but that in smaller places where the doctor comes only when sent for the expense is $11 per 1,000. The law authorizes the school board of each city and town to appoint a school physician or physicians and that the sight and hearing shall be tested annually by the teachers. The expense is to be borne by a local appropriation.

The Growth of City Schools.

The new United States commissioner of education, Dr. Brown, reports that there are now 588 city school systems in the United States, with a total enrollment of 4,374,463 pupils and an average daily attendance of 3,354,606, an increase of 105,252 for the previous year. In private and parochial schools there were 1,996,522 pupils, an increase of 39,017. Of the 5,619 supervising officers 2,280 are women. Of the 96,624 teachers in the city schools 89,335 are women, an increase of 2,533, whereas the number of men teachers increased only 15. The school property is valued at $410,326,526, and the total expenditure for the schools was $129,836,203, an increase of 6.22 per cent.

Dr. Brown.

Chicago Quits Coeducation.

William D. McClintock, dean of the University of Chicago, announced that the faculty had finally decided upon complete segregation of men and women students and henceforth the aim would be two affiliated universities—one for women and another for men. The buildings for the women's dormitory and recitation rooms are to be entirely removed from those of the men, and the students of different sexes will never meet except occasionally on the campus. The dean says that the university life needs to be more secluded and freer from the publicity which is now its greatest failing.

Harvard's Newsboy Scholarship.

President Eliot of Harvard university announced that the scholarship founded by the Boston Newsboys' union was awarded to Meyer Heller after a rigid competitive examination. He is a seventeen-year-old member of the union who had worked his way through high school. On the same day the union presented the university with $2,565 as the nucleus of a proposed fund to establish a permanent scholarship.

MISCELLANEOUS

World's Baseball Championship.

The Chicago club of the American league won the world's championship by beating the Chicago Nationals four out of six games. The receipts for the six games amounted to $105,540, and the total attendance was 99,854. President Comiskey and Captain Jones were the athletic heroes of the hour.

Accidents.

A terrific cyclone struck the Cuban capital Oct. 17, isolating the city for a day and a half and causing twenty deaths and much destruction of property. The same storm swept the Florida coast and caused much loss of life on Elliot's key.

All hope of saving the men on board the submarine boat Lutin, which went down off Bizerta on Oct. 16, was abandoned after twenty-four hours of work by divers who failed to locate the craft. Subsequently it was located, and preparations were made to raise it, but all hope of rescuing the men alive was abandoned.

At Fort Recovery, O., on Oct. 17 an explosion of either gasoline or dynamite caused the instant death of four persons and the injury of many, two buildings being demolished.

In the Wingate colliery, near Durham, England, on Oct. 15, a fire damp explosion caused the instant death of twenty-five men and the temporary entombment of 200.

Five men were killed and six injured by the explosion of a boiler of a government pump boat on the Ohio river near Pittsburg.

Deaths.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis, widow of the Confederate president, died at her hotel apartments at New York after a brief illness. She was eighty years old and had survived her husband seventeen years. Her body was sent to Richmond for a military funeral.

The Rev. Sam Jones, the noted revivalist, died on a sleeping car on the Oklahoma, Choctaw and Gulf line.

BUILT UP HER HEALTH

SPEEDY CURE OF MISS GOODE

She Is Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Writes Gratefully to Mrs. Pinkham.

For the wonderful help that she has found Miss Cora Goode, 255 E. Chicago Avenue, Chicago, Ill., believes it her duty to write the following letter for publication, in order that other women afflicted in the same way may be benefited as she was. Miss Goode is president of the Bryn Mawr Lawn Tennis Club of Chicago. She writes;

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I tried many different remedies to build up my system, which had become run down from loss of proper rest and unreasonable hours, but nothing seemed to help me. Mother is a great advocate of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles, having used it herself some years ago with great success. So I began to take it, and in less than a month I was able to be out of bed and out of doors, and in three months I was entirely well. Really I have never felt so strong and well as I have since."

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating (or flatulence), displacement of organs, inflammation or ulceration, can be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Her experience is very great, and she gives the benefit of it to all who stand in need of wise counsel. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge. Address, Lynn, Mass.

WILL LOWER ITS FARES.

Boston & Maine Will Make General Reduction. Will Charge on Average, Half Cent to One Cent Per Mile Less.

BOSTON, Oct. 24—In accordance with its traditional policy of giving the public every possible facility and advantage consistent with its duty to the owners of the property, the Boston and Maine railroad, on or about the first of next January, intends making a general reduction in its passenger rates averaging one-half to one cent per mile.

This sweeping cut will be entirely voluntary. It has been ordered by no court or commission and is not dictated by any political considerations, but is simply a concession, on the part of the road to its patrons, which it hopes is warranted by current business conditions.

As a result of the proposed rearrangement of tariffs, passenger fares in all parts of the road's territory lying south of Bellows Falls, Vt., and Concord and Rochester, N. H., will be reduced to a flat two-cent basis.

This will include the entire Fitchburg divsion, running from Boston to Troy and Rotterdam Junction, N. Y., on which some of the rates are at present as high as 2 3-4 cents a mile. It will also take in the Southern division, the Central Massachusetts division, part of the Connecticut and Passumpsic divison and the greater portion of the Eastern and Western divisions.

This territory includes many large manufacturing cities, agricultural sections and tourist centers. Lowell, Lawrence, Manchester, Concord, Dover, Haverhill, Portsmouth, Rochester, Newburyport, Gloucester, Beverly, Salem, Lynn, Waltham Fitchburg, Worcester, Greenfield, Springfield North Adams, Keene and Troy all come within the new 2-cent-a-mile zone.

It is here that the Boston and Maine has the most densely populated portion of its territory. The patrons who will benefit by this particular reduction are numbered by millions, and geographically the section includes the entire state of Massachusetts, as far as it is served by the Boston and Maine, a considerable part of New Hampshire, including all of its more important industrial centers, and a part of New York state.

In the territory lying north of Bellows Falls, Concord and Rochester, except on these portions of the mountain divisions where heavy grades and sparse population add greatly to the cost of operation, the same uniform reduction of one-half cent a mile will be made.

On those portions of the road where the rate of fare is now 2 1-2 cents a mile there will be a reduction to 2 cents a mile, where it is 3 cents, to 2 1-2 cents, and where it is 3 1-2 cents to 3 cents.

Practically every corner of New England reached by the ramifying lines of this great railroad system will benefit by this new policy, and in the aggregate it will be one of the most liberal reductions in the cost of travel ever given the public by an American transportation company.

As a further evidence of its progressiveness the Boston and Maine mangement has decided to extend the splendid dining car service recently added to the Fitchburg division.

Eight of these perfectly equipped cars have been ordered of the Pullman company and it is expected that they will be ready for use on the through eastern and western division trains by the opening of next season's tourist travel.

Mr. Yung Liang Hwang received his primary education in a mission school in Wow-lin, China, then finished his college course in Nankin University, Ninkan, China. He taught in the latter university for five years, also acting as principal of the academical department at the same time. He came to Baker University, Baldwin, Kan., in 1901, and finished his classical course in 1904, receiving his B. A. at that time. He went to Drews Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J., in the fall of 1904, this being his senior year at Drews. It is his intention to go back to China next April, to take up his life work as both teacher and preacher of the gospel.

Rev. James H. Roberts of Hartford, Conn., was graduated from Yale College in 1873, and from Yale Divinity School in 1876. After a brief service in home missions, he went to China in 1877, his wife accompanying him. They first lived in Pekin, China, studied the language and engaged in missionary work. In 1880, they removed to Kalgan, by the great wall, 140 miles from Pekin, where their home has been until the present year. Mr. Roberts was driven out of China at the time of the Boxer outrages, with other missionaries, who fled to Siberia. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts returned from China last summer to care for the former's aged mother. They are living in the old Willard homestead, Willard street, Hartford, Conn.

THE DEATH OF JUDGE THOMPSON.

Judge William L. Thompson, one of Lawrence's most prominent lawyers died suddenly at his home, 66 East Haverhill street at 4.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Hemorrhage of the brain is given as the cause of death. The judge was seized with illness while sitting on his veranda, about 2.30 o'clock, and Dr. Kurth was at once summoned, and did all in his power for the sufferer, but his affliction was beyond human aid, and he passed away at 4.30 o'clock. His age was 72 years, 5 months and 17 days.

A LONG LEGAL CAREER.

Judge William Luther Thompson was the son of the late Luther and Lydia (Fiske) Thompson. He was born in Medford, Mass., May 6, 1835. He passed through the schools of his native town including the High school. After working for about two years as a bobbin boy in a mill in Lowell, he completed his preparation for college at academies at Gilmantown and New Ipswich, N. H.

His college course at Dartmouth, from which he was graduated in 1858, was followed by a period of teaching, first in the Union High school at Attleboro, for one year, then one year in the High school at Randolph, and from 1860 to 1862, at Peabody, all in Massachusetts. In the second year of the Civil war his patriotism rose to such a pitch, that he enlisted as a private in the Fifth Massachusetts Infantry, a nine months' regiment, and having been elected second lieutenant of Company C, he served from August, 1862, to July, 1863, taking part in the battles of Kingston, Whitehall and Goldboro, all in North Carolina. When the regiment was mustered out the officers retained their commission and at the time of Early's raid on Washington city, they were ordered to recruit a new regiment for 100 days, in which Mr. Thompson was commissioned first lieutenant in Company C. While in this organization he served on the staff of Brigadier General W. W. Morris of the regular army as assistant adjutant general at Fort McHenry, Baltimore, Md., until the regiment was mustered out in 1864.

His military career ended, he came to Lawrence and renewed the study of law, which he had commenced before joining the 100-days' regiment. He studied in the office of the late Gilbert E. Hood and W. F. Gile, the firm being Hood and Gile with an office at the corner of Essex and Appleton streets. He was admitted to the bar in 1866, entering at once on the practice of law in this city where he has been ever since.

At the time of his retirement from active practice he had been in partnership for five years with Albert F. King, Jr., under the firm name of Thompson & King. He was in his 72d year of age and his retirement from practice was on account of his prolonged ill health.

Judge Thompson served in the common council in 1867, from ward two, under Mayor N. P. H. Melvin. The late Hon. James H. Eaton was president of the council that year. He also served three years on the school board from ward two. While in the common council he was a member of the public property committee, under whose direction the old High school building was erected, and it is to the credit of the committee that no extras were allowed and the cost was kept within the appropriation. The present police station was also built under that administration. The old lockup before that time was located on Common street, near Jackson street.

In 1898, when the last bankrupt law was passed, he was appointed referee in bankruptcy and he was reappointed in 1900, serving in that capacity for four years. One of the principal cases heard by him in that court was the failure of the Globe and Prospect mills. For a number of years he was associate justice of the police court here and it was from that he derived his title. He resigned that office to accept the refereeship in bankruptcy.

For 33 years his office was located in the Appleton building, at the corner of Essex and Lawrence streets. He remained alone in the practice of his profession until 1898, when Albert F. King Jr., who later became his partner, entered his office as clerk of the bankruptcy court.

During his early practice as a lawyer there had been referred to him by the superior court for Essex county as auditor, referee, or master in equity fully 200 cases, in none of which have his findings been set aside and in only a very few has any contest arisen over his decision in matters of fact, law or equity in the superior or supreme courts.

Among the cases referred to him had been some of great importance and public interest. Among them was a case involving the law and rights of commoners as between the towns and abutters on the sea in Ipswich and Manchester-by-the-Sea both in this state, in both of which cases he decided against the towns. In the Manchester case the town published in full his report in pamphlet form of 76 printed pages and it is considered the best exposition of the law of New England on the shore titles, extant.

Another case of public interest was a suit by the Reading Iron and Coal company against ex-Governor Benjamin F. Butler for coal delivered by the plaintiff for use by the Merirmack River Navigation company, which was pending in the Essex county superior court for 20 years. The decision by Auditor Thompson confirmed by the court was for the plaintiff.

In his earlier years he had one of the largest practices as a referee or auditor in the country and his fees were among the largest paid for that work.

He joined Mayflower colony, 1, U. O. P. F., November 8, 1879, and two years later was made trustee of the order, which position he held until early this year when he resigned after a term of 25 years' service. He was a permannent representative from Mayflower colony to the annual meeting of the supreme colony of the order. He was advisory counsel and he also revised and wrote the constitution of the order.

His first wife was Kate L., daughter of Zachariah and Caroline E. (Putnam) Marshall of this city. He married her July 11, 1867. She died February 8, 1889. His second wife was formerly Miss Christina McKenzie, daughter of Alexander and Annie (White) McKenzie. Their home is at 66 East Haverhill street. His only living child is Marshal P. Thompson, a graduate of Dartmouth college, who is practicing law at 31 State street, Boston.

In his political views, Judge Thompson was a Republican and had served as chairman of the Republican city committee. He had also been a member of the state central committee. His religious affiliations were with the Congregationalists.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

WHIST FEASTING AND DANCING.

In the cycle of events which go to make up the life of the Knights of William B. Gale lodge, K. of P., the celebration of Ladies' night is by far the most pleasant. Such was the nature of the occasion Monday evening when the chivalrous Knights and their ladies spent a few very pleasant hours in feasting and in the enjoyment of whist and the dance. In every respect the affair was a success. A large number were in attendance and all found the arrangements for the evening's entertainment satisfactory in every single particular.

From 8 until 9 o'clock whist was the all engaging diversion and 25 tables numbering 100 people participated.

Shortly after play had been suspended the prize winners were announced and awards made by George E. Sumner.

Well selected and pleasing prizes were offered. The lucky ones were: First ladies', Mrs. R. C. Wiesner, small gold clock; second ladies', Mrs. Soper, gold jewel case; third ladies', Mrs. George E. Sumner, gold plated olive fork; there were four contestants for the ladies' consolation prize, a hat pin, Mrs. Wallace A. West, Miss Rosa L. Pierce, Miss Emma M. Moeckel, and Mrs. William Joplin, and in the cut Mrs. West won out; first gentleman's, Charles M. Evans, gold K. P. charm; second gentleman's, J. H. Wilkinson, gun metal clock; third gentleman's, Alfred C. Jensen, leather fob chain, with emblem; gentleman's consolation, F. W. Boody, scarf pin.

During the whist and following the banquet until midnight dancing was enjoyed in Association hall, music being furnished by Millington's orchestra.

The supper call was given at 9.30 o'clock and the feasting in Hutchinson hall lasted until 10.30 o'clock. The excellent repast provided by Caterer James H. Moore proved every bit as satisfactory as had been anticipated. One hundred and fifty sat down to the food-ladened tables. The service was also of the best. The menu of the meal follows:

Cold Roast Turkey.
Cold Ham — Cold Tongue
Hot Turkey Gravy
Hot Mashed Potatoes
Chicken Salad.
Sweet Tomato Pickles
Celery — Cranberry Sauce
Rolls and Butter — Assorted Cakes
Lady Fingers. Macaroons.
Chocolate, Strawberry, and Vanila Ice Cream.
Frozen Pudding. — Assorted Fruit
Coffee.

The committee on arrangements may well feel pleased at the success attendant upon the affair. The general committee of which Royal E. Beal was the chairman was very wisely divided into the following sub-committees: Whist, George E. Sumner, Royal E. Beal; dancing, I. L. Emmons, John G. Grant and Supper, J. K. Gordon and Harry E. Sloat.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace W. King, Mr. and Mrs. Royal E. Beal, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Sumner, Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Packard, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. INCREASE IN NUMBER OF LOCAL VOTERS IN LAWRENCE.

There are 11,597 names on the local voting list for the coming state election. Last year at the state election there were 11,353 names on the check list. This was increased by registration to 11,689 at the city election last December. The losses by death and removals since then have been nearly offset by registration this year, so that at the state election this year there will be almost as many entitled to vote as at the city election last year.

The following table shows the number of voters in each precinct at the state and city elections last year, the state election this year and the number of names added by registration so far this year.

A SONG WRITER'S PLIGHT.

When Frank Daniels and the "Sergeant Brue" company arrived at Pawtucket last Wednesday, en route from Fall River to Worcester, a local song writer boarded the train, and buttonholing the comedian, asked permission to read to him two new ditties for possible use at some future time. Daniels listened to the songs, but didn't like them, and the man left the car. Just as the train was about to pull out, the song writer, very much distressed, reappeared.

"I've lost my parcel—the one containing the songs" he said to the comedian.

After a hurried survey of the section occupied by himself and the song writer, Daniels asked the man if he couldn't write the numbers over again.

"Yes, I can do that," the song writer answered, as he slid for the door of the train to disembark, "but there were two sandwiches in the same package!"

John William Scott died last Monday afternoon at 3.00 o'clock, at his home on Andover street, at the age of 48 years 8 months 10 days.

The deceased was born in Ware, Feb. 17, 1858. He came to Ballard Vale when about two years old and has since resided here. He was a wool-sorter by trade and for almost 20 years has been foreman of the wool shop of the Ballard Vale Mills Co. He was a devout Catholic, always taking a leading part in promoting and sustaining the church which he so dearly loved. He was a member of the Andover Council K. of C. No. 1078.

He was unmarried and leaves two sisters, Miss Honora J., and Miss Mary Elizabeth and two brothers, Patrick J., and James to mourn his loss.

The funeral was held Wednesday forenoon, at 9.00 from St. Joseph's church. Father Morrison conducted the requiem mass, and paid a glowing tribute to the character and good works of the deceased. TURKEY TALK.

"My dear," remarked Mr Grouch, "this turkey is unusually tough. May I ask where you got it?"

"Certainly," returned Mrs. Grouch sweetly. "I purchased it at the stationery store. Do you suppose I got it from the butcher-shop?"

"No indeed," replied Mr. Grouch, jabbing the carving knife into the hard flesh of the bird, "I have been under the impression for the past ten minutes that you procured it from a hardware store."
